

DSSROADS CROSSROADS 77

We felt that CROSSROADS is synonomous with Bridgewater; for crossroads is defined as a central meeting place or a crucial point, especially where a decision must be made.

We ARRIVED at this crossroad with expectations of a new experience, We CONVERGED into a community of students who shared interests, hopes, ideas . . .

And we DEPARTED, realizing that B.S.C. was only meant to be a preparation — a preparation for the future, for finding a new direction.

Smile

Come on and smile!
Is there a better way to start your day?
Than with a smile?
Lift up your head
And throw your cares away for awhile.
So you had a bad day yesterday,
Give yourself a break today;
Come on and smile!

Once I was a dream.

It was fun being a dream.

I liked being undefined and having no responsibilities. Proceeding aimlessly, undetermined, I drifted around, Feeling nothing, seeing nothing, and experiencing Nothing.

Doing this, I had no hassles bogging down my mind. It was a carefree existence, but I needed something more. Now I am a reality.

It was fun being a dream, but I needed a purpose, a place, And a name.

True, now I have cares and worries, but I also have joys. So now I have something better.

Instead of just existing, I live.

I play a part now, before, there was no part to play. I didn't know what it would be like, but I'm glad I found it Because now I am fullfilled.

Gather ye rosebuds while ye may, Old Time is still a-flying; And this same flower that smiles today, Tomorrow will be dying.

The glorious lamp of heaven, the sun, The higher he's a-getting, The sooner will his race be run, And nearer he's to setting.

That age is best which is the first, When youth and blood are warmer; But being spent, the worse, and worst Times, still succeed the former.

Then be not coy, but use your time; And while ye may, go marry: For having lost but once your prime, You may for ever tarry.

With what a feeling, thou great man, must thou Receive the people's honest veneration!
How lucky he, whose gifts his station
With such advantages endow!
Thou'rt shown to all the younger generation:
Each asks, and presses near to gaze;
The fiddle stops, the dance delays.
Thou goest, they stand in rows to see,
And all the caps are lifted high;
A little more, and they would bend the knee
As if the Holy Host came by.

You Make Me So Very Happy . . .

The Great Cross-Country Race

Paul Winter Consort

At Bridgewater we believe sports and recreational activities are vital in giving us balance through the discipline of our bodies and minds on the athletic fields as we learn to discipline ourselves in our academic classes.

We believe that the lessons learned in the classrooms, in the gymnasium, and the athletic fields combine to produce capable and productive human beings.

We strive to achieve these objectives through an intercollegiate and intramural program constructed to benefit all students, no matter what the interest or skill might be.

In intercollegiate competition the more highly skilled perfromer is given the opportunity to compete, to gain the satisfaction and spirit of unity which comes through teamwork and victory. Esprit de corps and morale within the student body is an objective of the intercollegiate program.

For the person less motivated toward competition, there is an intramural program, parallel in structure to the intercollegiate program. There are also intramural and non-competitive activities for which there is not intercollegiate competition.

The End of an Era

Mr. Edward Swenson

"a man for all seasons"

Kith Bitzpatrich

"I sometimes wonder whether those of us who love football fully appreciate its great lesson: that dedication, discipline, and teamwork are necessary. We take it for granted that the players will spare us no sacrifice to become alert, strong, and skilled, that they will give their best on the field. This is as it should be, and we must never expect less, but I am externely anxious that its implications not be lost upon us."

— John F. Kennedy

BRIDGEWAT

"It is in games that men discover their paradise."

"Everyone of us, at least some of the time, accepts his body as himself. He is what his body does."

"In athletics, a man makes a commitment to his school and to his teammates, but above all, to himself."

"Athletes are excellence in the guise of men."

"One cannot live a life solely of the mind for very long."

"The spirit of playful competition is, as a social impulse, older than culture itself and pervades all life like a veritable ferment."

Test Prayer

Now I lay me down to study,
I pray the Lord I won't go nutty.
And if I fail to learn this junk,
I pray the Lord that I won't flunk.
But if I do, don't pity me at all
Just lay my bones in the study hall.
Tell my teacher I've done my best,
Then pile my books upon my chest.
Now I lay me down to rest
To pray I'll pass tomorrow's test.
If I should die before I wake,
That's one less test I'll have to take.

CROSSROAD'S STAFF

The purpose of this yearbook is to act as a record of our senior year at Bridgewater. The pictures and commentaries are recollections in a concrete form (in case our memory ever faltered from time to time). The CROSS-ROADS is dedicated to you, Class of 1977 because without you, the "greatest story" could not have been told!

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to all my editors and staff for a job well-done; without your ideas and hours of hard work, this book would have been an impossible task. Also, the knowledge and guidance from Arnie Lohmann and Pat Connolly was a tremendous asset to us. To my managing-editor, Tom Conley — your loyal support, cooperation and the battles we shared will always be remembered as major factors in benefitting the construction of this yearbook. To all of you and to the Class of 1977, I wish you the best of luck in any goal you venture to obtain.
